

IN THE CLAIMS:

Cancel claim 2 and claims 10 through 12 without prejudice.

a⁵ 5/ 6. (Amended) The holder of claim 3/4 wherein said means [formed in said retaining channel is] are resilient fingers formed from the base of said holder to force said cards up into said channel.

a⁶ 13. (Amended) A combination money clip and card holder, comprising:
a base having a substantially rectangular shape, a first and a second surface, two longitudinal edges, and two transverse edges; brackets having L-shaped crosssections and formed integrally with said base along said two longitudinal edges, the brackets and said first surface defining a channel;
a stop formed integrally with said base on said first surface along one of said two transverse edges; and a hinged clip extending from one of said two transverse edges over said second surface and including a resilient portion integrally formed with said base and a lever portion pivotally attached to said resilient portion, [The money clip and holder of claim 12 wherein] said lever portion [includes] including means for deflecting said resilient portion away from said second surface and capturing articles between said hinged clip and said base.

RECEIVED

JUL 28 1999

TC 300 MAIL ROOM

a⁷ 14 16. (Amended) A combination money clip and card holder, comprising:
a base having a substantially rectangular shape, a first and a second surface, two longitudinal edges, and two transverse edges;

cont.
97

[a bracket] brackets formed integrally with said base along [each of] said two longitudinal edges, the brackets and said first surface defining a channel;

a stop formed integrally with said base on said first surface along one of said two transverse edges; and combination means for removably capturing paper currency, said means disposed along said second surface.
